

Another pretty difficult Quiz

Locate the dependent clauses in the following sentences by placing them in brackets; label them subordinate or relative, and tell how each functions in the complete sentence.

1. Grady, who is a nephew of Uncle Boots of Boots Hollow Road, farms about 25 acres of fertile land in a valley in Saville Township.
2. Although he only has one good hand, having lost one in a corn picker, he has farmed this land for over thirty years.
3. One time, he described a hunt that he and his buddies took part in.
4. About dusk, he and Claire and Kim and Lynn had spotted a large buck in the wheat field that bordered Buddy Flickinger's place.
5. Because it was a while out of hunting season, they thought they better make this an efficient hunt, so they spread out, forming a circle around the animal.
6. Whatever the usual procedures were, Grady thought this a good idea until he heard the first shot and saw a blade of grass drop away two feet to his left.
7. "Whoa!" he shouted, letting the others know that he wanted to halt the hunt.
