

Visiting

Writers Series

Faith Adiele

March 2nd, 2007

8:00 pm

B-126

MARCH 2007

FAITH ADIELE is the author of Meeting Faith (W.W. Norton), a memoir about becoming Thailand's first black Buddhist nun, which received the PEN Beyond Margins Award for Best Memoir of 2005; writer/narrator of My Journey Home (PBS), an acclaimed documentary about growing up with a Nordic-American mother and then traveling to Nigeria as an adult to find her father and siblings; lead editor of the forthcoming international anthology, Coming of Age Around the World (The New Press); and co-author of The Student Body (Random House/Villard), a trashy multicultural thriller written with college pals. She currently teaches nonfiction at the University of Pittsburgh.

Meeting Faith: An Inward Odyssey, by Faith Adiele, W. W. Norton & Company
(be SURE to order the paperback, as Norton is always trying to offload the hardback!)

Coming of Age Around the World: A Multicultural Anthology, ed Faith Adiele & Mary Frosch, The New Press
(waiting to hear a pub date).