

The first of the Really Big Announcement Flyers.

Please announce to your Lit/ Lang classes (or read this short notice verbatim)

The Date, Time and Place are Set for the

REALLY, Really Big
Lit/Lang Holiday Workshop Bash

Thursday, 16 December 1993 is the date.

4:30 to 6:00 is the time.

G208-209 is the location.

With food (in a nearly [but not quite] astounding array of varieties),

Music,

Awards ,

Cheerful Faculty (the semester will be virtually over),

And more. . . .

For those who hunger to know, we provide the following tidbits about the forthcoming delectables.

The Meatballs will make a return appearance (but in a new and gentler form);

Gastronomically correct pig cookies will be available;

Other wonderful foods will also be handy.

If you care to bring your own dish, please feel free to do so. Don't try to feed everyone, just something to whet appetites.

Or Bring Nothing at all but yourself near the end of a gruelling semester.
