A Belated Announcement
of the
REALLY, REALLY BIG
End of Term
Holiday Workshop BASH to be held

Later On Today

(unless your professor forgets to read this,
or teaches a TR schedule,
in that case sometime in the past) Come be a part of the Literature and Language Community as we Celebrate the close of the FALL 96 Semester.

There will be:
Food, Music, Food, a Christmas Reading, Food, Poetry, and the announcement of the winner of the Feyt/Armstrong Essay Contest

It may be remarked that this flyer arrives rather late (as late as one or two hours prior to the announced event). The remark would be true. Do not believe for a moment, however, that the flyer committee has been derelict in its duties. If truth be told (a la Defoe) in past years the committee has met and conferred under the spiral cement stair case outside of D-E wings. We have found this a setting conducive to dry and inspired work. Members of the Literature and Language community who remember past flyers may agree. But as we mean to explain, unfortunately, this bucolic setting has been enclosed, undoubtedly for the benefit of some landed gentry. The subsequent delay, which has kept this flyer out of publication, arose from a small dispute within the committee concerning an alternative meeting place. The dispute has been settled; we appreciate your patience.
