Please answer the following questions.

1) In grammatical terms, every independent clause (and every simple sentence) can be divided into two distinct parts. Name them.

---

2) Clauses and phrases are at once fundamentally different and strikingly similar. Identify as clause or phrase the groups of underlined words in the following sentences.

In a weird moment, the song began to play backward.

Since no person had touched the phonograph, everyone decided that the cat had done it.

---

Whatever the reason was, Spuds was having none of that.

---

He had not, for any reason, touched the darn thing.

---

Forward rotation made him dizzy enough; with anything in reverse, he would not deal.
